BILL HAYWOOD SHOULD BE SUPPRESSED.

Haywood, the I. W. W. leader, needs the attention of the government. He is glibly talking of ordering 75,000 harvest hands to quit work in the Dakotas while the crops are being gathered, and he predicts a spread of strikes to the extent of paralyzing the industries of the United States.

What ails this country? Are we becoming another Russia, without patriotism and wholly unconscious of the meaning of the war in which we are engaged?

How can any man talk as does Haywood, and escape the heavy hand of discipline?

In Germany, the I. W. W. disturber would have been shot the moment he was caught after writing the letter he did to President Wilson. But in the United States, a coarse-grained, sourd agitator can go on spouting disloyalty and retain not only his liberty, but be the center of admiration.

President Wilson, no doubt, is indulgent, believing that those who feel they have a grievance over the conditions of labor, should be allowed to "pop off," as does an engine when the steam pressure is too high, but there should be a limit to this disorganizing propaganda of the I. W. W.

JAPANESE TROOPS AND RUSSIANS.

Writing from Rawlins, Wyoming, a subscriber puts a number of questions to the Salt Lake Tribune, as to why Japan is not doing more to aid the Russians. In part, the Tribune replies as follows:

If 2,000,000 Japanese soldiers were sent to the polar regions it would be scarcely more difficult to supply them than if they were sent to the Russian front. Japan has been working its factories night and day to furnish millions of Russian soldiers with guns and shells and has not been equal to the task. If millions of Japanese were added to the armies on the Russian front the task would be that much greater.

Japan must send its guns and munitions by ship to Vladivostok, a Siberian port which is obstructed by ice during half the year. From Vladivostok the supplies are transported over a single-track railroad six thousand miles into Russia. The road has been unable to handle all the freight unloaded on the piers and docks at Vladivostok. When the American railway commission arrived at that port it found still stored there freight which had been shipped from the United States a year before. One of their chief labors has been to increase, by proper methods, the carrying capacity of the railroad and thus relieve the congestion of freight at Vladivostok.

Having read the history of the Russo-Japanese war, the editor of the Tribune should know that troops from Japan could be transported at all times of the year along the line of retreat of Kuropatkin's army from the peninsula on which Port Arthur is situated, now Japanese territory, north to Mukden and thence to Harbin, the junction of the Chinese Eastern railroad, which connects with the Siberian road.

There are no insurmountable difficulties in the sending and maintaining of a large force of Japanese soldiers. Had the weak links in the Siberian railroad received attention at the beginning of the war, the whole system today would be in condition to handle equipment for a large army and transport hundreds of thousands of soldiers.

Russia, agriculturally, is capable of sustaining, without outside assistance, an added army of two millions, and the one big essential thing today on the entire side is to so brace the Russians that they will be able to hold at least the present forces which are engaged against them on the eastern front.

No writer less familiar with the Russian situation than Ellhu Root or members of his party can say what should be done. There are many great internal problems, any one of which might forbid the entrance of Japanese or American troops. But if Russia wants the Jap and the American soldiers, and can assure them security from anarchy and has the means by which they can be fed and kept supplied with guns and munitions, then troops from both countries should be on the way to rally the unnerved Slavs.

The Standard from the first day of the war, has focused attention on the Russian front, predicting that the greatest crisis, for or against the allies, would be brought about by the ebbs or flow of Russia's military strength.

DAIRYING FOR THE VALLEY.

Having completed a survey of the dairy stock of Huntsville, J. T. Neal, the government expert, has passed on 700 milch cows without finding one animal afflicted with tuberculosis. He states this is a remarkable showing. Near Salt Lake, in one herd, four diseased cows were discovered.

This is proof that Ogden Valley is an ideal district for the dairy industry and, by specializing, the farmers around Huntsville, Eden and Liberty could make that beautiful region of mountain streams and pastures famous for the quality of its dairy products.

With an altitude sufficiently high to keep the cows in health, and with haylands and pure water, the country around Huntsville should be devoted to the dairy industry.

One change though must be brought about. The owners of milch cows must study modern methods of housing and caring for their animals. Cleanliness is demanded, even insisted on, where dairy products win favor and gain an unlimited market.

WILL THE WAR END NEXT YEAR?

America's foremost authority on the war is Frank H. Simonds. He has made two trips to the fighting front in France and was at Verdun when the Crown Prince was hammering at Vaux and Douaumont. He has written a review of the third year of the great struggle, with a forecast predicting that 1918 will see the end of the conflict. He says:

For myself, I am satisfied that we are entering into the last year of the war. We may have a military decision between now and the end of the campaigning season of next year. If we do not, I do not believe the war will be ended by a military decision. I believe a military victory must now come to the allies. If Russia and the United States do their part, I believe it may come to the allies. If the United States measures up to her great task and her obvious duty, I believe that unless the submarine menace is ended the allies cannot go longer than the end of next year. And I do not believe that without great American reinforcements a military decision will be had.

The German army is no longer the army of 1914. German resources are fading and falling. Yet during the war of the Spanish Succession Louis XIV faced the great coalition under equal disadvantages and managed to avoid the partition of his country and to achieve a peace without indemnity or annexation. If the Germans can last until the snow flies next autumn they may be able to do the same thing. Upon the United States and Russia, and only a blind and foolish man, whatever his hopes, would place great reliance upon Russia.

Simonds declares Germany is war weary, but not to the extent of being prepared to surrender her Alsace-Lorraine or indemnifying Belgium. Germany is under great strain, but may be able to hold out. On the other hand, England is facing a serious possibility, for Simonds says that, though Germany has been wrong in believing England would be brought to her knees by three months of unrestricted submarine warfare, there are few naval experts who believe that, if the submarine ravages continue unrestricted, England can fight much after October, 1918, or fail to make peace within a brief period after that date.

SOCIALISTS ARE MUCH DISPLEASED

Oppose New Government and Expect Little Change in Parliamentary Regime.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 6.—German Socialists will oppose the new government on the principle of Catholic Germany, according to the Socialist orator Vorwaerts. "Persons so foolish as to expect a great change in the direction of the parliamentary regime will be enormously disappointed," says the newspaper, which believes that the presence of Catholic representatives is a great improvement in the system.

It appears that Dr. Spahn, leader of the Catholic Center party in the reichstag, will be forced to retire from party life on account of his appointment as Prussian minister of justice. He must resign his seat owing to the constitutional proviso upon accepting the portfolio, but it is asserted there is nothing to prevent his standing for re-election. He will accordingly do this though he cannot become a member of the Bundestag.

August Worms, leader of the Flemish movement in Belgium, said in an interview in the Berlin Tageblatt the aim of the movement was the re-establishing in Belgium as a dual monarchy of Flanders and Walloonia under the personal union of King Albert. Herr Worms took Austria-Hungary as an example of the movement for free Flanders in free Belgium.

Movement Slipping Back. COPENHAGEN, Aug. 8.—The democratic movement in Germany, which reformers were sure was getting such a splendid start in the recent reichstag crisis, now seems to be slipping backwards to the old grade. The Liberal and Radical newspapers in Germany generally interpret the selection of Dr. Michaelis, the chancellor, of his colleagues as a distinct rejection of the principle of parliamentarism or parliamentary influence upon administration.

The Socialist organ Vorwaerts announces that the cabinet members Spahn, Krause and Mueller enter the government as individuals, not as party representatives. Therefore the party assumes no responsibility but retains completely a free hand toward the government. Herr Mueller, particularly, has had no active connection with the Socialist party and has a purely administrative non-political post.

The Vorwaerts declares that the present government must be the last of its kind and must be supplanted by a government of the people. Dr. Michaelis is also getting further away from the reichstag peace resolution, even as he interprets it as the days pass. The phrase in his speech Saturday on the necessity of "a powerful peace" was printed in black-face type.

Reports to the Associated Press from Germany say that Dr. Michaelis now has been named by the advocates of greater Germany as a new Bismarck and an enthusiastic orator of a delegation from an independent committee for German peace which saw Dr. Michaelis off at the Dresden railway station made a wildly applauded speech, greeting him as a worthy successor of the old blood and iron chancellor. Dr. Michaelis, according to the published reply to the speech, was modestly silent regarding it.

NEW MEMBERS OF GERMAN MINISTRY

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 6 (delayed).—Among the new men appointed to posts in the ministry at Berlin are two recruits from the ranks of the communal administrators. Herr Waldrath, minister of the interior, and Herr Schwander, minister of economics, were associated with Chancellor Michaelis in his former work of food distribution and control, and attracted his notice by the energy and ability with which they handled the food problems in their respective municipalities.

One of the most interesting members of the new administration, if he accepts office, will be the Socialist August Mueller, whose name is as in-indicative of popular extraction as John Smith would be in American life. Herr Mueller's acceptance is said to be doubtful and, if he becomes the first Socialist under secretary in Germany's history, it apparently will be because he finds himself viewing his possible services to the problem of the proper nutrition of the people as either not incompatible with or as outweighing his Socialistic principles.

Dr. von Kuehlmann, the new secretary for foreign affairs, is greeted by the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts as representative of the spirit of a peaceful, friendly understanding with Germany's present enemies. It takes the optimistic view that he accepted the office with the intent of pursuing a policy based upon the reichstag resolution. This assumption also explains the friendly acceptance extended to him by the Radical press.

DE SAULLES BOY HAS BEEN FOUND

Mystery Regarding Child Cleared Up—Is in Care of Father's Business Partner.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—All mystery about John Louis De Saules, Jr., the four and a half year old son of Mrs. Bianca De Saules, who shot and killed her divorced husband last Friday when he refused to give up the child to her care, was cleared today when he was found in the care of G. Maurice Heckscher, De Saules' business partner.

Counsel for Mrs. De Saules was expected to make an appeal to Mr. Heckscher today that the mother, who is confined in the county jail here on a charge of first degree murder, might be allowed to see her son. Should this appeal fail, it was said, legal action would probably be taken.

Mrs. De Saules, who was said to be in a serious condition by three physicians who examined her, has been removed from the cell she occupied to a room in the sheriff's apartments of the building.

De Saules' funeral was held today.

WHEN HUSBY FOOLED HER.

Mrs. Scatterbrain was constantly bemoaning her lot. Her husband, who was entitled to place half the letters of the alphabet after his name, had the most treacherous memory in the world. He could remember nothing of his wife told him in finger and knots in his handkerchief. Only once did Mr. Scatterbrain remember to do his wife's bidding.

Said a friend to Mrs. Scatterbrain: "I think you are getting as bad as your hubby. I got a note from you yesterday dated a whole week ahead."

"Heavens!" gasped Mrs. Scatterbrain, trembling with the shock. "My husband must have posted it the very day I gave it to him!"—Exchange.

RUSSIANS WILL NOT SURRENDER

General Korniloff Scoffs Idea of Nation Concluding a Dishonorable Peace.

WOULD BECOME VASSAL

No Choice Between Evil of War and Evil of Surrender to Germans.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The correspondent of the Times at the headquarters of the seventh Russian army talked with General Korniloff on the eve of his departure to take over the supreme command.

General Korniloff said:

"The first stage of the war is over. The second phase begins today."

The correspondent says the Russian commander repudiates the possibility of the Russians surrendering. He holds that if Russia concludes a dishonorable peace to which traitors have been driving her she will become a German colony forever. The Germans would seize her foodstuffs, enroll her men and treat her as a conquered country. There could be no choice between the evil of war and the evil of surrender.

The new government must realize the necessity of inviting the allies to help in reorganizing the railway service for warfare. If Germany decided, as all signs indicate, to transfer the main pressure to the Russian front, it would be hopeless to rely on methods that availed against the inferior Austrian troops.

Russia is full of splendid fighting men. Ten millions have already been enrolled but they are scarcely trained. They are too busy attending meetings instead of drill. These men must be helped by British and French officers, as Serbians, Rumanians, Greeks and Americans have been.

AMERICAN DIES AT THE FRONT

Was Seriously Wounded by Shell at His Post on August Third

PARIS, Aug. 8.—John Verplanck Newlin, of Whitford, Pa., an American field service member, who was seriously wounded by a shell at his post on August 3, died in a hospital at the front on August 5. Newlin, according to the Paris edition of the New York Herald, was a member of section 29 and left Paris less than a month ago. He was a Princeton student and was the second man from that university to be killed in field service within the last year.

The same shell, which struck Newlin, wounded Julian Broome L. Allen of New York, the section's leader. The latter is the son of Frederick Allen.

FAKE ASSASSINS EXACTING MONEY

Russia's Revolution Producing Many Strange Phases of Criminality Throughout Country.

PETROGRAD, July 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Among the novelties which Russia's revolution has presented to the world is the profession of fake assassins. In other countries only persons suffering from hallucinations claim to have committed murders of which they are innocent. Here, as a result of Nicholas' overthrow, posing as an assassin is a highly profitable, if transitory branch of business.

Terrorists released from Siberian convict jails and exile villages are naturally made heroes of. They are given free train accommodations, free dinners, free clothes and gifts of money. When they reach their native towns they are acclaimed as martyrs of liberty, and they receive proposals of marriage from attractive and wealthy young women. As a result of this novel condition, many enterprising citizens whose lives are innocent of anything grimmer than mud or ink are posing murderers of despotic officials. Women as well as men are entering the profession.

In Minsk has been arrested Catherine Smirnov, who announced that she had murdered M. Anoff, governor of Odessa, and described her husband's sufferings in the Arctic wastes of Yakutsk. Smirnov levied tribute and was presented with bouquets. An unlikely inquirer discovered that Odessa had never a governor named Anoff, and further that Catherine Smirnov had posed in Odessa as a sister of mercy and after swindling seventy charitable citizens, had been expelled by the military authorities.

In the same city a healthy young man who described himself as a soldier volunteer arrested in the street the invalid ex-governor, General Pillu. Before a sympathizing crowd he denounced the general. "I am the innocent and unhappy man whom you seized," he exclaimed, "the peaceful citizen whom you sent to a convict prison without trial. Our committee had ordered you to be sent to the front, but in view of your bad health, we shall show some mercy."

In vain General Pillu explained that he had never seized any innocent man. He was hauled by the mob to the military office. The Odessa Dreyfus meantime collected money and fled. The military at once released the general. From Siberia, which a Russian proverb described as the "land of cruelty," similar cases are reported.

THE FUTURE

Donald had nearly been run over three times, had stepped on four dogs and collided with half a dozen perambulators. The restor, who had watched the progress from across the road, ran after him.

"What's the matter with you this morning, Donald?" he inquired, thumping him on the shoulders. "You're very thoughtful. Thinking of the future?"

"No," replied Donald, gloomily. "It's me wife's birthday tomorrow and I'm thinking of the present."—Baltimore Sun.
